All right, here it is. Monday, 5pm. The weekend is over. And everyday this week they have still driven, there are TV a TV down these highway roads [REDACTED] houses. They're loud as [REDACTED] And every every day. So, it's official now. I don't know if it's the same set of guys. But those warnings were obviously not worth a [REDACTED] Here come Tadic by the way. So, anyway, I [REDACTED] thought this guy and this guy carries his wife and his kid, and they [REDACTED] drove around the neighborhood. And, you know, in a vehicle that does not offer authorized to traverse state roads. So I'm gonna drive down and see if I can follow him right here. I gotta redo my car and everything cuz he's not there, but I want to, this is in the daytime. And he's not in the first house on the left. He's not in the second house on the left. Although there's a [REDACTED] He doesn't look like he's at the [REDACTED] house on the left. And they really ruin that property there. And I can't see the fourth house on the left. And the fifth house and left is not there, boom, I'm gonna take a double look. It doesn't look like he's at the headaches property. He might be a redneck but really, he didn't look like he's at miss the old man had his property. And it doesn't appear that he's on the last house on the right, either. So, I'm a. And he's not last house on the right, with the, with the guy with a loud truck. So, I'm [REDACTED] kind of curious here oh I can see dust. So he's obviously traversing going down here well past these roads and he's going for a afternoon dune buggy ride with his family. So I'm going to follow and see if I can get video of this.
