It is 7:30pm. On Thursday, and our friend in the flight truck [REDACTED] topped out his engine [REDACTED] I mean, after hearing something for after after hearing the sound of an engine, the same engine every day for months. You know, you know what it sounds like. And this time, he did more than the usual revving he actually really redlined it. That's like intentionally being annoying and he did it right in from the house, and then guess what he put us took his foot off the brake and slow down, which means like he's intentionally he's doing that intentionally to aggravate and irritate, and to be a [REDACTED] I mean he's doing that on purpose. It's no like hey I want to see my truck knows I'm pissed off at the world I'm going to Florida out of here. And that's [REDACTED] not. No, it's not called for.
