Yeah, we're still having people coming by and driving the drama house and reading after all that [REDACTED] like yeah I got all this stuff [REDACTED] and then the cop [REDACTED] my case, I mean he [REDACTED] me a [REDACTED] time. Because I admitted to firing a warning shot. Now, if I had not admitted to firing a warning shot. There would have been no distinction because I was already in shooting position, facing my target and already had my pistol in my hand, and my earplugs in. I mean, I [REDACTED] finished knocking off fiber five rounds and I stopped because I [REDACTED] someone pair in the [REDACTED] out the road. So only reason to stop. There was nothing I mean if I'd gone back and [REDACTED] turn my back and start shooting it, but it's what he perceived as the option, you know, and then it'd been a whole different pace. So that's a bit that's a biggie. I'd probably probably wouldn't been reckless. Fire anyone been reckless, because I'd control my weapon. I control and you were zooming and you were to put the bullet, everything. No, he may be Miss handling a firearm. But, which is a mystery. So, let's move on then. They've been searching for the same but um, we think we have the big breakthrough. And probably read some more about later but kind of calm down and you all know that computer. So, alright. But yeah, crazy. We had a great truck that you're after all this [REDACTED] Great truck pulled up beside me. This engine. And then, yeah, This is really not cool. Hey. Okay.
