Yeah, users and well. It's now 830 at night. And it's like 34 degrees outside. It's really cold really freezing. And basically, it's one to go ahead and mark and make a note that, you know, we've complained a lot about about noise volumes on here. The police have called the numerous times over. A neighbor of ours, drag racing in front of house, not in the best, best mood right now so it's probably not the best time but, but, um, yeah so we made these numerous reports and everything like this and I'm sitting here in my home from my house, and I'm trying to finish doing some work that I did started and all I can hear is, is the sound of this guy's truck. And it's, it's the truck and that truck right there. In particular, there's been making all this noise. That's been the problem, and I'm hearing it a 39, who combined knocked out his engine and drag race his truck and from my house at 9pm. That's what happened last night. The smell of the chicken houses stink. And the smoke is our farm is absolutely filled with the smoke from where they burn the fecal matter. We [REDACTED] about had enough out here. We were here first. We've always been here, my family's from here. And there's no reason for one person to ruin my home. There's no reason.
