Mr Dayton. I wrote to nearly two weeks ago. Attempting to inquire about purchasing this land. Across the street from my farm. And the land that you had purchased from the lows. I farming is my primary source of income right now. It's pretty much what my livelihood depends upon. And I don't really have. I'm not in a position where I can tear down these pecan trees. So I'm trying to expand the farm. So I can make a reasonable income for myself and be able to provide for my family. And so I'm writing you to try to inquire about your plans for the land. What you're gonna do about it. And whether you know whether you're interested in selling or whatnot. I've got. We have seen some people come by here and look Atlanta I've talked to a couple of them. But, you know, I know there's really not been any opportunity. And that's all I've been asking for is that opportunity. So, Thank you. Three all responsibilities attacked by a shark. To claim evidence of election fraud is real. As I'm listening to Rand Paul, George, I kept thinking. This is where Biden won us senator paul spreading lies by highlighting the evidence and election fraud and follow up tweet call to find saying Klobuchar and other democrats are pursuing the impeachment of President Trump, calling it quote partisan relevant is illegitimate illegitimate Paul also reiterated election fraud and real democrats are wrong to dismiss those questions.

There were several states in which the wall was shamed by the Secretary of State and the state legislature to me those are clearly unconstitutional. And I think there's there's still a chance that those actually do finally work their way up to the Supreme Court courts, traditionally and historically don't like to hear election questions, but yeah for the people who voted twice whether 10 people voted whether they're aliens who voted yes and once you get to the bottom of it.

anger and denial about democrats although there are still early applications for challenging outcome, and many are still criticizing biden's push for a minimum wage, pay raise may sound nice in theory, but no one plan to boost the federal minimum wage may actually do more harm than good. Biden and other Democrats have been setting the national minimum wage to $15 an hour. Economists more that action is not without consequences.

Yeah, and that's exactly the point, if you're now have to pay, let's say you have five employees, they all make less than $50 but maybe now. We'll have to see dollars, you're not going to be able to [REDACTED] all of those five employees, you may lay off one of them and try to get more productivity out of the people that you're nothing more to that is [REDACTED] the reality of the way businesses work
