What is wrong with our society today. There's many things wrong with it. But what is wrong with our society today, is that as a whole, as a society as a whole. We have stopped teaching ethics to our children to each other. Not talking not meaning this maybe not referring to ethics as in any sort of superficial sense and not and not also referring, I'm not. Also, I'm not referring to ethics in some form or type of political correctness liberal sense, or even two medicines. I'm talking about. Good old fashioned [REDACTED] traditional ethics, values, morals, that's what's wrong their society we're not teaching those good old fashioned traditional values and morals. And so, are we done Is it is it is it's prevented. It's basically. One domain should never mind I'll tell you but the I mean, ethics is something you have to learn. It's not something we're born with. And so what fatherhood holds us together society is this cohesive this coherent for this coherent set of ethics, principles and values. And when we start rotting away that we're no longer society, or a bunch of people scrambling for food.
