 00:02

Let me make one thing clear. I moved home from college, so I can live in the countryside. I moved home from college to live in the countryside. I did not move home from college, to live in a [REDACTED] so division, period. I do not want to live in McDonogh. I do not want to live, where I can, where I can physically with a naked eye. See, my neighbor's house.

 00:41

It's not what I came here for. It's not what I live for. That's not how I grew up. I don't want to live in a neighborhood. I came home to live in the country, which is the exact reason why my grandfather, purchased this land is because it was in the country.

 01:08

We are country folk. We are not certified, we are not some defies so division ized. We're country. I've grown in grew up in the country. I want to stay in the country. I don't want to live in the city. I don't want to live in neighborhood. And I do not sure as [REDACTED] don't want to live in subdivision. I don't want to live, where I don't want to live, where I can physically see my neighbors SECURITY light. I'm not a big fan of security lights I don't really like several my neighbors have them. That's good. I don't see them. They have them. They don't bother me. They've been here forever. But, you know, I don't ever see them either. They have them, that's good for them. I don't ever see him as long as they're on a team that's good, because I like the darkness. I like during a moonlit night. That's fun moonlit nights are fun.

 02:11

When the moon lights the path and you don't have to have a flashlight. That's one of the best times to go for a walk.

 02:19

It's one of the best times to be outdoors is in a big bright moon that night. What the [REDACTED] Why the [REDACTED] would you want to ruin that and put up a name SECURITY light, I don't understand. It's not what I'm here for. I'm here to live in the country to live in nature. I'm not here to share it with how many other [REDACTED] people there are. I don't want to live in a community, or subdivision. I don't want to be in a place where I can hear my neighbor, open and close the door, where I can hear him talk. If he's standing up outside of his house, I can hear him talk. No, that's not the country. That's a subdivision. I don't want to live in a subdivision. I don't want to live in a neighborhood don't live in community. I haven't my entire life and I don't plan on starting now. That's not what I came down here for. That's not what I've been working for that's not what I'm struggling for.

03:17

If I can hear you talk on your property with a naked ear, without even trying. Yeah, you're too [REDACTED] close to me. And it looks like I need to move on. If I'm having to struggle to keep the farm going, because there's too many people living around me.

03:42

And they've lowered the water table too much. I'm in the wrong place. Whenever. If I can if I live. If I can hear heavy machinery, and it sounds like I'm in a [REDACTED] construction zone.

04:05

I'm in the wrong place. I didn't, I didn't drop out of college for that. I haven't been working for that I came here to live in the country that's not the country that's the name of that vision.

04:17

I can listen here, my neighbor blaring country music. While he's working on his tractor. That's not country. That's country. I didn't come here to live in the country. I came here to live in the country.

04:37

If I can't hear the sound the [REDACTED] over the engine of your four by four. I'm not living in the country anymore. I live in Assam subdivision, I'm living in McDonald's. I didn't drop out of college, I didn't work, live in McDonald's. I couldn't work, so I could live in the country.
