we were thankful that we've had the opportunity to live in privacy and and our neighbors respected that. That was up until we didn't. Up until we do not. We opposed the construction of the solar power plant. Then at that point, all respect no mutual respect then at that point it was open [REDACTED] [REDACTED] because we didn't want to go along and have a power plant behind our house, all but suddenly it was I mean, it was it was you know, we didn't get any thinks we're saving, you know, we saved the values of people. Anyway, so, I've had the same neighbors for [REDACTED] years in my life. And I thought they were good neighbors, and I was, I was happy to have them up until recently but imagine we've had the same year I've had the same neighbors. Every year in my life I've known I've known my neighbors my entire life and one day, while one day, we discovered that one of our neighbors had totally moved. Not only it moved, he moved and sold his house to somebody else. He didn't even tell us didn't even tell us. He didn't even tell his next door neighbor, the person he can literally see. He can literally see each other's house. He didn't even tell them. He didn't tell anyone. He [REDACTED] hopped up and disappeared. We didn't we didn't know what happened to him. And what was even worse, we couldn't get ahold of him. He didn't respond to any of that we wrote him and we tried our best to get ahold of them. And he didn't respond to anything he demand. totally disappeared. And then he sold his house. There was no for sale signs. There was no sign that the property had even changed. And the only way we found it out, was my neighbor's cat. You know, ran away and she went to go looking for it. So anyway, we even knew that we'd lost someone that we had been living beside, since my family been living in Missouri since the 70s. It's [REDACTED] outrageous. That man disappeared without a trace. And the only way he really could have done so was it. It was intentional. And that's why it looks that the house was sold and everything was set up and it was all done. Hush hush and it was intentionally meant to prevent anyone in the neighborhood from finding out about it. And that not only is that kind of insulting that this man, I'm known that this man that we've known my family has known for the [REDACTED] of our lives, and didn't even have the courtesy to say hey, I'm not seeing you [REDACTED] I'm moving. You know, he didn't have the courtesy to tell us that he's leaving. That he did it and totally disappeared, sold his house and everything. Without a single [REDACTED] It's not [REDACTED] but it's insulting and it's offensive. You know? Here's someone you thought and you thought you knew you thought you're friends with you thought they're close to you thought you know you're on good terms with and they slept disappear off the face. of the planet. It's pretty, pretty insulting.

Imagine imagine one of your friends, your best friends [REDACTED] disappearing. or a family member you've known your entire life. [REDACTED] disappeared. didn't ever see him [REDACTED] You didn't even know they moved. You don't know where they are. You don't know how to get ahold. They [REDACTED] appear in his place we discovered someone that lived further on down the road from us who had moved away and come back. And not only did he do that he's trying to take over the entire road. All the all the houses he's trying to take over everything. So we were under invasion. Because all the property that sat in front of our houses was owned by the neighbor that [REDACTED] disappeared. So we're dry. We're desperately running and scrambling to try to find out what's going to happen to the land in front of our house. And we wrote them. We call them we tried our best get ahold of them. He didn't even have the decency to respond. As nice as we've been as close as we've been we've given them you know, we used to exchange Christmas you know, Christmas stuff. You know, my grandma used to make cookies for him. We used to wave to each other every day on the road. We sell stuff and dog. Yeah, we thought we were friends to this person. And he literally disappeared turned around and screwed us over
