That was a Tyler's SUV. And Alright, it's 145 on Sunday. I forgot to tell you so there was Tyler's SUV and drove right by their driveway went right on down to Doug. So there's your dad Matthew, but there's someone that they're definitely pretty much [REDACTED] sharing the house with dad the same house. The promotion is all grown in there together. So that's that's [REDACTED] absolutely ridiculous. It's absolutely ridiculous. So You going to love it. RIGHT? Okay, so that one [REDACTED] that was stuck. There that one [REDACTED] reflected that's pretty good. Pure reflection there. Are some communication but do not here's through okay, and we want to get through this today. Day one more and then we'll we'll go back to that.

 12:13

 [REDACTED]

With that there was this one luck with that. It's your boy. After that, break Good Day. What's up was my pitch the [REDACTED] deals with spaces for people like me don't carry around missiles hot to trot you [REDACTED] go to laser laser You ready? To [REDACTED]

 30:54

Whoa, don't lose it. I think we ought to put that up.

 30:59

Clean but I did two shots and they kind of hit very close. This is the one it doesn't look like it because it's so good. Well, you lost it. But yeah, this one is actually actually that one's in there. It's what kind of created the hole. And then this one came through. Why on top of that? Oh much yeah, that's like It's like mid flight and see some of action going on right there. Like the way it is and the way the wood like particles are still around it. Yeah. It looks like it's bursting through power and fury. So check it off with your guy. Well, no, I actually did this. I did some tests with him with the chainsaw. And that's the routine here is the chainsaw mark. So it's actually really kind of cool how I created an actual pattern really, really, but I didn't that's not intentional. And that's not what the potential could look like. But I basically took a look at stick. I did several patterns. I did pivot and I kept going around circles with my brain without making a cut in a little bicep. I tried that. And then I did a ton of fun because of a bigger ticket to have an up in the wall so I couldn't find that and then I had that big old one that was down and what I did was I actually actually cleaned it milled it but the chainsaw and cut it I cut it flat and cut it cut it into squares I called both sides made into square and then I cut a slab about that big of a square. Are you laughing at me? Interesting and you're doing it so fast. So yeah, but yeah, the slicing that time slice slice the slab off a bit about you know about an inch thick and created a little target shot at that one. And then I had then my chainsaw ran out of power naturally so I had to take I had to take so I had like a big block that left so I didn't I took my hatchet and cut off that block. And I did ran some tests on what worked and what didn't. The pecan it didn't really matter whether the pecan was doing whether it whether it's shot with the grain or [REDACTED] the grain, it really didn't matter because it's not the body of the way. But if I shot [REDACTED] the grain like this, this was the only one that had penetrated. And that's not a very thick piece. This is [REDACTED] one of the five that cut off but if I had benefited from all the thicker is a stackable. British Bulldog, you get it and deflected. And I thought that was kind of interesting. I mean, don't get me wrong, this is the most powerful and in fact it's actually quite uncomfortable, very low power gun. But that [REDACTED] by the extension that the larger block, you know once you went [REDACTED] the grain and you had enough thickness that it would not only to stop it would actually actually heal and so the bullet actually hit flattened out and dropped off. So I thought that was pretty cool. Pretty cool research I did there. Yeah, the dollar Tyler Tyler van came came up was right behind me and they were looking at me checking out what I'm doing. And then they came up they went up on top of the hill had right past their driveway. Somebody else's house has their bathroom. Anything when somebody answers. Well, sounds like you're okay. With either dogs gonna hop in the car and look at it, check it out. But no, they're out next to theirs. They're either going to dog or they're going to Abernathy so they're going to somebody down. down that way and that's what I see. That's what I saw last night. We went is that you know they hopped in the car and the neighbor you know they happen there are [REDACTED] thing and then they drove out next door. And so I'm [REDACTED] kind of sitting there wondering and I'm like you know

yeah

 34:49
oh, you know, the other thing is is like you know [REDACTED] like you know that you might as well you know, [REDACTED] kind of like, you know, thinking in my head, you know, they might as well get given them the entire clock and get them out of it. And then that's [REDACTED] the same thing. Take it anywhere.

 35:10
Yeah. I did the research on real estate fraud last night to qualify. I was I was kind of surprised and believe it because I thought real estate was like big time have to do with loans and money and stuff but they know how it has to do is involved in actively misleading and inactive brand and breach of fiduciary duty. And then it's officially considered real estate fraud. I was pretty surprised about that. It turns out that fiduciary duty thing is it that's a big deal. Do you share as well can you share duties and duties but a big deal it's a big duty fiduciary duties big duty was that that's what I'm finding out law that the fiduciary duties taking extremely seriously. And if you violate your fiduciary duty, then that's it. So that's [REDACTED] my that was the trailer across the screen I [REDACTED] an elevator the elevator the elevator rotors.
